Tuesday Forum is a networking organization for working women offering support for personal and business growth. Guests are welcome to attend up to three times before being asked to become a member.

History: In September 1980 a group of six area business women decided to start a women's group in answer to the Kiwanis and Rotary. At that time, neither group allowed women. These women wanted the opportunity to exchange ideas, develop business contacts, encourage cross-referrals and have a forum to discuss business issues... in other words to NETWORK. They scheduled their meetings at noon on Tuesday.

During the years of '81 and '82, they chose a name, created a mission statement and recruited members. Since then, they have attracted new members and have had some really fascinating programs dealing with not only women's business issues, but also physical and mental health, literary topics, and children, all while maintaining the purpose of networking and friendship.
